Ropeyarn Sunday "Sea Stories" and Open Trackbacks

Description

Open trackbacks…if you'd like

"Sea Stories?" Well, I'm deluged with two research issues, one for "us" later this month (which, is shaping up to have some real substance to it, thanks to the networking capability of the Web), and one for work , to get to know my product throughly.

However, there is a daily set of posts, giving real life to life at sea right now, where the XO of the USS RUSSELL (DDG-59) has a few crew members who are blogging the "stuff" of life at sea, as they head west across the vast reaches of the Pacific Ocean for a forward deployment. Jump over there and then make sure to "favorite" or bookmark the blog for Destroyermen. Become a "charter reader," so you will be able to say one day that you have been reading "Destroyermen" since Noah was a deck seaman. Well, no, better yet, so you will see what our men and women at sea do on a daily basis in the defense of the Nation.

default watermark

Category

1. Public Service

Date Created
April 16, 2008
Author
admin