

Well! I Guess That Settles That!

Description

My brain color? I thought gray, but that's the science in me...

And thanks to another take a moment quiz on the net:

The screenshot shows a quiz result with the title "Your Brain is Orange" in bold black text. Below the title is a placeholder for an image, which is a square with a diagonal cross and the text "Image not found or type unknown" above it. Below the image placeholder is a large, faint watermark that reads "ACQUA WATERMARKE". Underneath the watermark, there is a block of text describing the brain type: "Of all the brain types, yours is the quickest. You are usually thinking a mile a minute, and you could be thinking about anything at all. Your thoughts are often scattered and random – but they're also a lot of fun! You tend to spend a lot of time thinking about esoteric subjects, the meaning of life, and pop culture."

What Color Is Your Brain?

Heh! It said "random."

I like to think that's me, but then it was only a few questions...

Category

1. Public Service

Date Created

April 9, 2007

Author

admin