Sighted: 2/29/2008

Description

"Art still has truth, take refuge in it"

What? I have no clue what moron would make such a ludicrous statement, let alone wear it in public on a t-shirt. I wonder if they think every painting really represents a real image any one of us could have observed. Talk about "living in a fantasy world!"Â I'll blame t on the NEA, who has failed to provide the asterisked disclosure for art teaches to read verbatim to students letting them know some art is called "impressionistic" for a reason.

Ponder it. If you can explain it to me, I will read your comments carefully...

Category

1. Bumper Stickerisms

Date Created March 2, 2008 Author admin

default watermark